SAYS SUPREME COURT KEEPS PEOPLE'S LAND

Union Ultimatum is Given Owners of Mines Today

Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Dean Henry M. Bates of the University of Michigan Law School asserted today that what has been described by President Roosevelt as a "no man's land" should more properly be called "the people's land." He added the people should decide its use.

Opposing the Roosevelt court bill before the Senate judiciary committee, the Michigan educator said that proposals for a new tribunal to interpret the Constitution might result in "the people's land" being "invaded" without their consent.

Before the Supreme Court's recent reversal of its stand on minimum wage legislation, the President said the court had created a "no man's land" where neither the Federal or state governments had power to act.

Faced Former Pupil
Facing one of his old law school pupils—Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz.) of the committee—Bates contended the Roosevelt court proposal was not "liberal and progressive."

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) declared the court reversal on minimum wage legislation for women had strengthened opposition to the administration judiciary bill.

"The latest claim of supporters of the bill is 51 senate votes, 1 hour, but he proposed addition of six justices to the Supreme Court could not get more than 35 votes in the senate today," he declared.

Lesson in Decision
Wheeler told reporters the lesson in Monday's Supreme Court decisions was the need for care in drafting legislation.

Attorney General Cummings, on the other hand, called the minimum wage decision an illustration of the merit in the president's proposal.

"Only by the shift of a single justice," he said, "were the constitutional rights of the state legislatures reinstated. So it happens that the Constitution on Monday, March 29, 1937, does not mean the same thing that it meant on Monday, June 1, 1936."

Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist, testified yesterday that if the court bill should prevail, constitutional democracy might "decline and fall" in this country as it did in Germany and Italy.

Apartment House Collapse Puts 6 Men Into Prison
New York, April 1.—(AP)—Six men, including two officials of the Bronx, faced prison terms today as a result of the collapse of an apartment house last June, when 18 workmen were killed.

The six were convicted of criminal negligence by a jury last night after a six week's trial, and faced prison terms of 7½ to 15 years each.

The defendants indicted for second degree manslaughter were Michael C. E. Thiede, plans examiner of the Bronx bureau of buildings, Albert P. Heine, inspector of masonry for the bureau; Louis Steinberg, owner of the building; his son, Max; Harry B. Rutkin, architect; and Vincent Valentine, masonry contractor.

Telephone 60 Kept Busy Today By People Calling "Miss Wells"

Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Ernest P. Walker, national zoological park official, predicted today a nationwide let-up in April Fool jokes.

It isn't that the country's getting any sadder—folks, he says, are just busier this year.

"Unemployment," he reasoned, "makes pranksters of us all, and when All Fools' Day rolls around the idle turn the country's zoos into national stooges for their jokes."

Ever since zoos put in telephones, April 1 has seen them swamped with (no pun) phoney calls.

What happens is this: Struck with the spirit of the day, a joker leaves the zoo's telephone number at a friend's office or home, always when he's not there.

Unexpected

Scottsbluff, Neb., April 1.—(AP)—Sheriff's Deputy Mahlon Morgan got his man when he least expected. After hours of searching he appealed to Floyd Perry for a better description of the hunted bad check artist.

"Does he look anything like that man, for instance?" Morgan asked, pointing at random into a street crowd.

Perry took one look and gasped: "That's the man."

BASEBALL TEAMS FOR DIXON KIDS WILL BE FORMED

Dixon Legion Post and Park Board To Back Program

Junior American Legion baseball will be promoted in Dixon this summer by Dixon Post No. 12, B. F. Cummings, post athletic director, announced this morning, and all boys of Dixon of playable age are urged to get in touch with him to file the necessary certificates of eligibility to enter league competition. Play will start about the latter part of April.

Louis Pitcher, chairman of the Dixon park board, announced this morning that the board is behind the project one hundred per cent and that Reynolds field in the west end, which has been under construction the past two years, is now complete and ready for use as a municipal playground for such a league.

In co-operation with the American Legion and Mr. Cummings, Sheriff Ward Miller, who has had considerable major league experience, has offered his services in tutoring all boys who wish to play baseball this summer, in order that they may develop into players of such ability that they may choose their professional careers in the baseball field.

All Boys May Enter
It was emphasized this morning that all boys are eligible, regardless of race, color or creed, and that teams will be formed composed of boys of all talents, so that all who apply to play can be assured.

Nelson Slough is Being Restocked

The Nelson slough, which a few years ago was one of the favorite fishing spots in this section, is being restocked with crappies. A few years ago when the water was lowered to permit the removal of stumps at Sterling for the accommodation of boat owners, the fish practically disappeared.

For several weeks a state seining crew has been engaged in removing rough fish, carp and buffalo, from the slough waters and more than 125 tons of these fish have been taken in hoop nets and sent to other waters. The removal of this large number of rough fish has made the Nelson slough waters fit for stocking of game fish.

Conservation Inspector Charles Duis on Tuesday superintended the unloading of several thousand large crappies in what is known as Phillips slough north of Nelson.

Huge tanks on a large truck conveyed the full grown live fish from Henry to Nelson where they were released as a breeding crop in the slough waters. Another consignment of game fish is to be sent to Nelson within the next few weeks for restocking the slough waters.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS ROUT INSURGENTS

Morocco Uprising Worries France in South

Gibraltar, April 1.—(AP)—Spanish government airplanes began a vicious bombardment of insurgent-held Ceuta, Spanish Morocco late today. The explosions were heard over this entire rock, across the narrow straits.

BULLETIN

Madrid, April 1.—(AP)—The Pegasus (official Spanish) news agency, in a dispatch from Valencia, today said it had learned through secret sources that 50 planes had taken off from Italy on March 25 enroute to Spain for service with the insurgents.

(The Italian government insisted in a statement to the international press yesterday that it had fulfilled its neutrality commitments and would continue to do so, but only in equal measure with the actions of other nations. The statement minimized recent Italian volunteer losses in Spain.)

Madrid, April 1.—(AP)—On four far-flung warfronts Spain's government troops gained coveted ground today to convince long-sieged Madrilenos they had loos-

Quiz Americans

Pernigian, France, April 1.—(AP)—Leaders of a party of 13 Americans acknowledged today before a French magistrate that they intended to volunteer for war service on the Spanish government's side.

Joe Ballet of Cleveland and Joseph Fleischer of Philadelphia threw themselves on the mercy of the court. They, with the others, face prison terms of one to six months and fines of $500 for violating the French law prohibiting volunteers from entering Spain.

Ballet and Fleischer were questioned at Ceret, 25 miles from Pernigian, preparatory to a court hearing April 15 for the entire party.

ened the insurgent grip on Madrid itself.

Marked successes were claimed in a continuation of the Guadajajara province counter-offensive, in the Cordoba province struggle for valuable coal fields and in a push on Franco's erstwhile general headquarters, Burgos, 135 miles due north of Madrid.

On the Madrid front—government cannon fire broke up insurgent attempts to throw up new fortifications in University City, insurgent-held northwestern suburb of the capital.

Government victories on the northern Burgos front were tempered by reports of a heavy insurgent attack on the Marquina sector of the Guipuzcoa front, in the Basque country northeast of the Burgos salient. The death toll from an insurgent bombing of the Basque city of Durango reached 200.

Sheriff Miller Is Kept Busy By Complaints Made By Lee Co. Farmers Today

Hogs Stolen Near Franklin Grove; "David Harum"

While the Lee county sheriff's office was engaged in checking and investigating the apparent theft of more than a hundred dollars worth of clover and timothy seed, which was unloaded west of the city on the River road some time Monday morning, farmers asked for assistance in two other instances this morning. Sheriff Ward Miller announced at noon today that no new developments had appeared in the investigation into the theft of large quantities of clover and timothy seed in Putnam county, a part of which was said to have been among the cache found west of Dixon.

In this morning's mail to the sheriff was a letter from Earl Buck, well known China township farmer, who is spending the winter at Pomona, Calif., complaining of the loss of 29 head of pure bred Duroc pigs from his farm north of Franklin Grove recently. The hogs were said to have weighed about 250 pounds each. Sheriff Miller went to Franklin Grove this afternoon to investigate the report. No report of a theft of this number of hogs had been made to the office by the tenant on the Buck farm, the sheriff stated.

Seek Horse Dealers

Before noon a South Dixon farmer sought the sheriff's aid in an effort to locate two horse dealers who were said to have operated a salefarm in the southeast part of the city for several days. The farmer purchased a team of horses at the sale barn, for which he paid $195 in cash, the animals being guaranteed to be sound in every way. When the animals were fed at the farm, both were found to have been "wind-broken," the farmer complained and he sought the return of his money, but the dealers could not be located. They had represented to him, the farmer stated, that they had been engaged in farming operations near Ohio, but they were not known there.

As the sheriff listened to this complaint another farmer from Marion township sent a written complaint to the sheriff, that two men who acted suspiciously had been observed hurrying through a field, each wearing a heavy sword. The report was filed and as the sheriff left his office to go to dinner, someone complained that a heavy and massive woman's purse had been picked up and deposited at various places on the main floor of the court house, but it could not be found.

Assessors Given Books and Rules

The Illinois State Tax Commission is anxious to cooperate with the assessors of Lee county in every way to provide a uniform assessment, H. E. Buckels of LeRoy, member of the commission told Lee county assessors at their annual meeting in the county court room this morning. County Treasurer Walter Origenes acted as chairman of the meeting and Guy Wasson of Franklin Grove was elected secretary.

At this morning's meeting the assessors were furnished with information plans to aid them in assessing real estate and personal property. Buckels addressed the meeting this morning and shed some new lights on the assessor's duties.

He told the assessors that postal savings are assessable as are other stocks and bonds. Corn in the crib to be fed to herds of feeding cattle, on hand April 1, is assessable as are the cattle to be fed. These were among the high lights of his talk to the assessors this morning and he answered many questions during the session. He was to be present again at this afternoon's meeting when the assessors will decide upon rates to be followed in making their 1937 assessment.

COAL MINERS MAY DESERT THEIR LABOR

Michigan U. Law Professor Witness Today

By The Associated Press
Four hundred thousand soft coal miners today commemorated institution of the eight-hour day while an apprehensive, strike-weary industrial world faced the possibility of another widespread strike.

Their leader, John L. Lewis, said that unless operators capitulate to wage and hour proposals offered them in a new working contract, there would be no resumption of bituminous mine operations tomorrow.

Meanwhile, new complications beset the crippled automotive industry. Union-management discussions progressed as 3,500 workers held additional plants in Pontiac, Mich., in a strike move launched at midnight.

Upon a conference today at Oshawa, Ontario, hinged developments in an embryonic strike threat of employees of the General Motors plant in the Canadian city.

Chrysler Strike

Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan asserted he would press "day and night" for solution to the Chrysler strike. A conference engaging corporation officials and United Automobile Workers representatives will resume tomorrow at Lansing.

Labor department officials invited officials of eight states to confer on minimum wage laws. It was announced the group would seek to determine how the Supreme Court's decision upholding a Washington state law would affect the invalidated New York act.

A strike, ostensibly planned to embrace 30,000 workers in San Francisco's Bay district got underway today. Sixty workers on a gutter project were the first to strike, a union leader reported.

Disputants in the month old Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. strike were to renew attempts to end the deadlock which has kept 10,000 workers idle.

DETROIT SITUATION

Detroit, April 1.—(AP)—A sudden outbreak of strikes in General Motors plants that affected 18,400 men at its peak receded today as the company announced that 7,200 men had returned to work in the Fisher body plant at Cleveland.

Offsetting that settlement, however, was a strike that closed the plant of the Yellow Truck & Coach Manufacturing Co. at Pontiac, Mich., this morning. The company, which employs several thousand men, is not a General Motors unit although partially owned by the corporation.

Also closed by strikes were the Fisher body plant at Pontiac and the Chevrolet Motor Company's final assembly line at Flint, Mich. Closed, or partially closed, because of strikes in other plants were the Pontiac Motor Co. at Pontiac and Fisher body plant No. 2 at Flint.

Ed Hall, a vice-president of the United Automobile Workers, said the strikes were "a protest of the men against the plant managers' refusal to recognize and deal with their committees as provided in the General Motors agreement."

Hall was conferring today with H. W. Anderson, personnel manager of General Motors, in an attempt to settle the strikes.

Northwestern to Lay Heavier Steel

The population of the village of Nelson is to be doubled within a few days, due to a program of improvement to be undertaken by the North Western railroad starting at that place. Two extra gangs of 150 men each, will move into Nelson tomorrow and occupy bunk cars which have been sent to the yards. Starting Saturday the crews will start working west from Nelson to Galt, relaying the rails of the main line tracks. A new type of 112-pound steel will be used to replace the present track which is to be salvaged. Some of the rails will be stored at Nelson, others will be sent to Dixon for replacement purposes and the balance shipped to other divisions. It is expected that from four to six weeks will be required to complete the improvement west of Nelson.

Fugitive From Chain Gang Sent Back To Georgia

Canton, Ga., April 1—(AP)—S. J. "Slim" Scarborough, three times a fugitive since he was convicted in a sensational Georgia murder case 12 years ago, was returned today to the Cherokee county chain gang from which he escaped Feb. 8.
Jay Haney, chain gang warden, said Scarborough was arrested in Hobart, Ind., March 27 after a flight covering a dozen cities between Tampa, Fla., his former home, and Chicago.
Scarborough was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1925 for the murder of W. C. Wright, superintendent of Putnam county schools, by three men hitch-hiking from Florida to Illinois. Scarborough turned state's evidence.
His companions, T. L. Cogershall of Clayton, Ill., and F. W. McClelland of Ocala, Fla., were executed.

300 Stove Company Employees Fail To Report For Work

Belleville, Ill., April 1—(AP)—In protest against the alleged use of castings made by non-union workers, 300 employees of the Orbon Stove company did not report for work today.
Edward Heiser, district representative of the international iron molders union, said the union did not sanction the employees' action. Heiser and I. J. Leopold, general manager of the firm, were negotiating a settlement. Leopold had no comment.
The union employees said they were on a "holiday". Union molders at eight other foundries joined the Orbon molders yesterday afternoon in the "holiday" but were at work today.

Never Made Mistake. Retires On Pension

Lawrenceville, Ill., April 1—(AP)—Because he never made a mistake on his job W. J. Pettis was able to retire today on a pension after 34 years active service.
Pettis, known throughout southern Illinois as "Shooter Bill", is an oil and gas well "shooter" employed by a large company. Had he made just one mistake on his dangerous job it is quite likely, he would not have lived to receive the pension.
He placed his last shot in an oil well at Oatsville, Indiana yesterday.

Baseball—

An American Legion junior baseball guide for 1937 has recently been released which contains various rules of sportsmanship, and state rules and regulations. This may be obtained from Mr. Cummings or by corresponding with P. N. Martin, chairman of the Illinois American Legion department athletic commission, 502 Florence avenue, Evanston.

Each year the Howard P. Savage junior baseball trophy is awarded to the department sponsoring the junior world champions. Dixon would be entered in the Illinois department. The United States is divided into twelve regional and sectional divisions in the sponsoring of the American Legion national junior baseball program. Illinois is included in the fifth region which consists of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois.

The effort to launch junior league baseball here under American Legion sponsorship is coincidental with the decline of softball, and the desire of the Legionnaires to keep boys off the streets in summer and engaged in some healthful sport under expert supervision and training. It is hoped interest will be shown in this endeavor by the citizenry and boys themselves.

Observers here considered the deep-lying resentment had added seriously to the difficulties of Gen. Franco, already harassed by a loss of prestige resulting from the government's determined eight and a half month's resistance to his armies.

Despite denials from the insurgent high commissioner of Spanish Morocco at Tetuan, reports from Tangier, Moroccan international zone, and Casablanca, French Morocco, insisted Franco considered the situation in North Africa so grave he had rushed there by plane to take personal charge of crushing the revolt.

INSURGENTS SMASH LINES
Victoria, April 1.—(AP)—Northern insurgent forces, helped by secret concentrations of men and munitions, smashed through government lines in two sectors to day in a new drive on Bilbao, capital of Basque supporters of the Spanish government.

Sudden attacks at Villareal and Asensiamendo caught government militiamen unprepared and brought Gen. Francisco Franco's troops into new, advanced positions.

An insurgent communique reported a small fort, several hamlets and a "whole connecting chain of trenches" had been occupied by the insurgents.

The center of fighting was near Villareal, 10 miles north of Victoria and 22 miles southeast of Bilbao. Ochandiano, a village just north of Villareal, was subjected to heavy artillery and aviation bombardments as the insurgent war machine moved slowly northward.

An additional column of insurgent soldiers began another push from Orduna, just west of Villareal, but encountered fierce opposition from government defenders.

The insurgent advance came on the heels of a government defeat near Santander, coastal city 47 miles west of Bilbao.

Attacking militiamen were forced to retire under fire in the Santander sector, leaving 25 dead on the battlefield.

Basque reports from Bilbao confirmed the insurgent push but asserted government counterattacks had halted the drive along the eastern sector.)

FRANCE OPTIMISTIC

Paris, April 1.—(AP)—France struck while the iron was hot today to get all foreign influences out of the Spanish war.

The government, sensing a ripe moment in defeats and dissension involving Italian insurgent troops, urged again that non-Spanish fighters be withdrawn from the war. At the same time it pushed for effective establishment of European neutrality control.

A foreign officer spokesman said the French government "is more optimistic that the Spanish war will not entangle Europe than at any time since the war began." He added that the start of a neutrality control scheme sufficient to catch at least major violators was now "a matter of hours"—next Monday, at the latest.

Meanwhile, bitter revolts against the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, still smoldering despite mass executions and arrests to crush them, were reported today from new sections of insurgent-held Spain.

Violent demonstrations against the insurgent leader in the key centers of Valladolid and Algeciras and even in Salamanca, the seat of his government, were said in information reaching here to have been suppressed only after many persons were wounded by troops firing on rioting crowds.

In Spanish Morocco, where it was indicated the movement was gravest, and on the mainland of European Spain, the outbursts were said to have been started by deep discontent growing out of a feeling the country was being handed over to Italian and German volunteers.

Observers here considered the deep-lying resentment had added seriously to the difficulties of Gen. Franco, already harassed by a loss of prestige resulting from the government's determined eight and a half month's resistance to his armies.

Despite denials from the insurgent high commissioner of Spanish Morocco at Tetuan, reports from Tangier, Moroccan international zone, and Casablanca, French Morocco, insisted Franco considered the situation in North Africa so grave he had rushed there by plane to take personal charge of crushing the revolt.

DAILY HEALTH

By DR. IAGO GLADSTON

Preventing Athlete's Foot

Athlete's foot is misnamed, for anyone may be afflicted with it, "athlete or no." But it is true that those who frequent gymnasiums, swimming pools and the like, are more liable to contract the disease.

It should be properly called ringworm of the toes, for the condition is caused by a fungus agent of the ringworm variety. The condition is preventable and also curable.

The prevention of athlete's foot begins with keeping the feet covered when walking about at home, in gymnasiums or locker room, and about the ramps of swimming pools. The spores of ringworms are likely to be distributed in these places and may invade the exposed skin of the feet.

Prevention is also furthered by a thorough daily washing of the feet and of the spaces between the toes with warm water and soap. Following this, the feet should be dried thoroughly, for the ringworm organism thrives in a moist and warm environment.

Those who frequent gymnasiums, swimming pools and other places where persons are likely to go about barefoot, will do well to protect themselves further against infection with ringworm by dusting the space between the toes with a sterilizing powder.

This powder is composed of two parts each of salol and chloral hydrate in combination with 98 parts of purified infusorial earth. It should be applied to the space between the toes daily and particularly after the feet have been exposed at the beach, swimming pool or any place where people are likely to walk about barefoot.

Many people suffer from athlete's foot, and because of the mildness of the symptoms, are unaware of it. It is desirable therefore to be acquainted with the picture presented by this condition in order to institute early treatment and to avoid infecting others.

The most common symptom is the presence of soft, sacculated, dull skin between the toes most commonly on the little toe and the one next to it. Sometimes, small blisters may be seen in the order to institute early treatment and to avoid infecting others.

The affected parts may itch and the patient who succumbs to the temptation to scratch is likely to spread the infection.

IL DUCE SURE FRANCO WILL WIN VICTORY

Rome, April 1—(AP)—Premier Mussolini is confident, informed sources asserted today, that Gen. Francisco Franco's insurgent forces will conquer the Spanish government.

This confidence, they said, springs from two premises:

1—A belief that Franco now has sufficient strength to overcome the opposition he faces at this moment.
2—An assumption that the 27-nation non-intervention agreement would prevent the Valencia-Madrid forces from receiving decisive reinforcements.

A formal statement by Dino Alfieri, Italian press minister, denied that any Italian army divisions were ready to go to Spain and declared "the orders given out regarding the prohibition on the departure of volunteers for Spain have been and always will be rigorously observed in Italy."

Both Italy and Germany will oppose firmly any deadlock that might result in establishment of Spanish governments, a reliable informant said.

"Italy and Germany are in perfect agreement not to permit bolshevization of Spain by a foreign power," this source asserted. "They believe the Spanish people are capable of preventing this themselves, providing Communists do not receive an absolutely overwhelming support from abroad."

BORAH VISIONS REPEALED ANTI-TRUST STATUTE

Washington, April 1—(AP)—Senator Borah (R-Idaho) forecast today enactment of the Guffey-Vinson coal bill in its present form would set such a precedent for other industries that the country would be "operating under commissions with the Sherman anti-trust law repealed."

Speaking in the senate, Borah directed his criticism to a section of the bill which he said would exempt coal code members from the anti-trust law.

He contended the provision was unnecessary and said it would legalize combinations in restraint of trade. At the same time, he said, the bill would deny non-code members the privilege of combination. Senator White (R-Me.) asserted a proposed 19 1/2 per cent penalty tax would compel all producers to accept the code. Borah declared this would "drive the entire industry" into the system and exempt it entirely from the Sherman law.

Senator Minton (D-Ind.) said he believed the anti-trust law "would be lifted, but only to the extent permitted in his bill and any lifting is, of course, at the expense of the Sherman anti-trust law."

Senator Schwartz (D-Wyo.) suggested a clarifying amendment, which Borah said he would be willing to accept, setting forth more specifically practices forbidden by the anti-trust laws which would be permitted under the coal code.

No human being escaped the Custer massacre, but one horse did, and on its death it was stuffed and mounted. The mount is now exhibited at Fort Riley, Kans.

Saturday The Telegraph will print "Next Week's Weather." Do not miss it.

COURT UPHOLDS WAGE LAWS

When the supreme court of the United States upheld the minimum wage law of the state of Washington, it upheld the power and authority of a state.

In appraising this decision, it should be borne in mind that there is a broad chasm between upholding the power of a state to make regulatory laws concerning industries within its borders and the power of the federal government to reach out and effect similar regulations within the states.

The blow to the New Deal, from which President Roosevelt seems unable to recover, consisted of decisions that the federal government could not go out into the states and regulate hours and wages and prices of their local enterprises.

The constitution, which is the people, gave up to the federal government certain powers that experience had taught could best be administered by the government that was common to all. Then it reserved all other powers of the states. There was practically no limit to those powers, except as they might contravene a few other provisions of the constitution.

However, possessing power is one thing, and exercising it within all boundaries and restraints so that it will bear examination under the light of the constitution and the rights of other states is something else.

When the supreme court passes upon the constitutionality of a law, it merely is hearing a law suit, in which it determines the rights of individuals. If the case comes up from Illinois, and concerns a law passed by the Illinois general assembly, the vital point may be different from that of a case that goes up from New York, where the law was similar but went farther because of zeal of the legislators.

In the case involving minimum wages, the court has cleared up a maze of cases that arose from three different laws enacted by three different bodies.

In passing, it should be noted that the court that passed upon the first minimum wage law and declared it unconstitutional, so far as individuals go has almost wholly passed to the beyond. Yet, as a court it is a permanent institution and decisions handed down in other years by other men are regarded as much a law of the land as those of yesterday.

The first case involved a law passed by the congress of the United States as the legislative body for the District of Columbia. It is a practice of the heavy lobbies to center their fire on congress and get it to fix the pace by a law for the District. Then the attack is directed to the state assemblies.

In the case of the minimum wage law for women and children, the court held it invalid. The court as now constituted was called upon to pass upon a law from New York touching the same subject matter, but in different terms. It followed the District of Columbia decision. This emphasized the fact that while the federal government was barred from exercising such power, so also was the state government, leaving it a matter that could be touched by no one.

When the case came up from the state of Washington, the court decided that the whole subject should be re-examined and that it should not be tied to the District of Columbia decision of fifteen years ago. In examining the theory that the law interfered with freedom of contract, the court held that there is no particular guaranty of freedom of contract as such, but that it grew out of the term "liberty."

Thus it will be seen that the constitutionality of this case does not hinge on such contentions as the government made in the NRA case, to the effect that pressing pants is interstate commerce.

In opening the way for minimum wage legislation by wiping out an early decision, the court merely is emphasizing the powers of the states, a thing this court has had a tendency to do in pointing to the limited powers given by the people to the federal government and extended powers retained by the people for the states.
It does not extend the power of congress over local enterprises.

A NEW NATION

Japan, by constant interference on the northern border of China, has established a new government to be known as Mongukuo. It will be parallel in many respects to the recently established government of Manchukuo, alias Manchuria.

To show how the Japanese succeeded in bringing about secession of the Chahar area and setting up therein the state of Mongukuo, some history must be recited.

The inhabitants of Chahar are an intermixture of Chinese and another Mongoloid type of the nomad, herdsman variety. In ancient times Chahar was not a part of China and the Chahars were more distinctly of their own type. But as China became more crowded the Chinese farmers encroached more and more upon the fine grass lands, driving back the wandering herds-men until they had covered two thirds of the area with Chinese farms. The remaining third, although it was poorer land, the Chahars defended fiercely. In succeeding years they intermixed with the Chinese peasants and were more or less absorbed by them.

The Japanese military, to effect the secession, reminded the Chahars of their departed "glory" as an independent people, and promised them support. The fact that the Chahars of today are part Chinese was not taken into account by the victims of this Japanese intrigue. Today, unless providence intervenes, the Chahars are independent of China and dependent upon Japan. History will show whether they have gained.

Somewhat of the same process, but with more military action, was taken in regard to Manchukuo. At one time Manchuria was independent of China. In fact the Chinese were so afraid of the Manchus that they built the great wall, one of the seven wonders of the world, to keep them out of China proper. Later China became embroiled in a civil war and the government invited the Manchus in to restore order. The Manchus did so, and seized the government. At last the Chinese had absorbed their conquerors, and in doing so they gained control of Manchuria. To get Manchuria away from China the Japanese reminded the Manchus of their departed "glory" as an independent nation, and even gave them a puppet Manchu king.

Mustaches

Revival of "Bristles" Stirs Up Argument
in Hollywood

Hollywood, April 1—(AP)—
The minute a hair stylist proclaimed that mustaches were coming back, Martha Raye exploded:
"If women like mustaches, why did the mustache cup disappear?
I'm making a hill-billy picture and a couple of times I've come within a whisker of resigning."

Said Dorothy Lamour:
"Grandpa had one and kissing him was like falling face down on a broom."

Fred Fredericks, hair stylist for a noted make-up artist, started it all by saying mustaches of the small, neat variety were just a bit of all right—mentioning Clark Gable, Jack Oakie, William Powell, Dick Powell and Michael Whalen.

"A mustache, properly used, is an effective thing," he explained.
"You can mold a man's face with it, bring out his good features, disguise those not so good."

"A mustache is a personality shaper. One mustache will make you old, another young. Or you can appear sinister, sophisticated or humorous."

Maybe so. But hark—
Marsha Hunt—"How can you get romantic necking a bristle?"
Marlene Dietrich—"My early childhood on the continent taught me that mustaches are a handicap."

Doris Nolan—"I like shrunken all right—but in the garden, not on man's face. Personally, if I had my way there'd be a law against men growing mustaches until they reach the age of 90."

On the pro-mustache side of the fence:

"Wendy Barrie—"I think a mustache is often very becoming to a man. Of course, there are some men who shouldn't wear them."

Carol Lombard—"Small, neat mustaches are okay."

Miss Lombard formerly was married to William Powell—and now is keeping company with Clark Gable.

Most birds nesting in dark places lay white eggs, which are more easily seen.

U. S. Senator Hitchcock says: "Luckies please both my taste and my throat"

"For close to fifty years I have been a regular smoker, so I think I know what constitutes a good cigarette. Luckies please me on two scores. I like their fine flavor. But even more important is the fact that they are a light smoke, easy on my throat. At any rate, it's results that count, and a light smoke pleases both my taste and my throat."

Herbert E. Hitchcock

HON. HERBERT E. HITCHCOCK
U. S. SENATOR FROM SOUTH DAKOTA

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Senator Hitchcock's statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.

are not conclusive. The big struggles are not over.

Final outcome: Roosevelt seems sure of getting virtually what he wants. It may not be the bill he is now demanding, but the modifications will give no joy to the opposition. He will be able to put what legislation he wants through the Supreme court, and that is the main thing he is after.

So far Roosevelt has stood pat, stubbornly refused to consider any compromise. However, he has cautioned lieutenants to tread softly and to leave no wounds that can't be healed. The President does not want to split the Democratic party if he can help it.

What he chiefly wants is to find a way for senators who are with him on most things to climb back off the Supreme court limb.

Aftermath: Following disposal of the court issue will come the real work of the session. The administration plans to follow the court bill with a barrage of important farm, labor and social welfare measures. Behind much of the opposition to Roosevelt's court plan, in and out of Congress, is fear of this legislation.

Moscow Shirts
Ambassador Joe Davies has proletrian Moscow all in a dither by inaugurating the custom of wearing a dinner jacket to the movies, thus making it incumbent on those who are his guests to do likewise.

Trouble is that most Americans in Moscow have no more than two or three dress shirts (Russians have even fewer), and there is only one place to get them starched—a Chinaman, who takes about two weeks to launder one shirt.

Labor Leader
Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, visiting in London between sessions of Congress, formed a fast friendship with John Burns, veteran, white-haired labor leader and member of Parliament. Burns began life as an apprentice, had been a workman most of his life. When Vandenberg left for home, he asked Burns if there was not some token he would like from the United States. The Michigan senator comes from the great furniture town of Grand Rapids, had in mind sending Burns some American furniture.

"There's just one thing I'd like," replied Burns—"a first edition of More Utopia."

Vandenberg spent three weeks intermittently looking for the book, finally found it in a second-hand book store in Boston.

He Ought to Know
During the hearing before the House foreign affairs committee on the bill authorizing a $5,000,000 federal grant to New York's world fair, Representative Charles Eaton asked that a telegram from a local chamber of commerce be read.

Turning to the noisy New Jerseyite, who is not popular with his colleagues, Chairman Sam McReynolds snapped, "What is your business?"

"Oh," shot back Eaton, "I have no business. I am a Congressman."

Merry-Go-Round
Brazilians are expectantly awaiting publication this month of Hugh Gibson's book, "Rolling Down to Rio." They want to know what the United States ambassador has to say about them. . . . In a press release about Mormon crickets, the department of agriculture takes pains to explain that the insect's name derives from its social habits but from its first appearance as a pest in the Salt Lake area. . . . Though senators and representatives have the franking privilege, the secretary of the Senate and the sergeant-at-arms must buy postage stamps for their official mail. . . . James D. Reilly, who has stood guard for 30 years at Senate gallery doors, boasts that his initials and his birthday are the same as John D. Rockefeller's. . . . Sergio Huneus, energetic first secretary of the Chilean embassy, is a professional cartoonist.

Special for Northwest papers, available to all subscribers.

Flaxseed
Agricultural department specialists are privately predicting that an important crop change is in store for the Northwest.

For the past dozen years Northwest farmers have been struggling to grow flaxseed. Recently their crop has fallen far short of the demands of the domestic market, with the result that roughly half of the flaxseed needed for United States linseed oil in the paint industry has to be imported.

When this failure first appeared, a higher tariff was demanded to protect American flax growers. That tariff now stands at the high figure of 65 cents a bushel. But domestic production continues to lag. Indications for the 1937 season are that U. S. farmers will produce less than half the domestic requirements.

This consistent lag brings discouragement to flax crushers in Minneapolis. They begin to look more and more to foreign seed, most of which comes from Argentina. Latest development is the threat that these crushers will abandon the deficient areas and move their plants to seaport locations, where they can be sure of a steady supply.

If this were done the deficient areas would become more deficient. The Dakotas and Minnesota would have to ship flax farther to market. Increased transportation costs would make flax growing still less profitable, cause further abandonment.

This is a long range development—not just around the corner—but it is one which economists here regard as inevitable if present trends continue.

Twin Girls Born Under Difficulty

Highmore, S. D., April 1—(AP)—A student nurse, aided by a farmer who plodded back and forth through 14 miles of drifted snow carrying instructions from a doctor, successfully delivered twin girls to the wife of Rolland Paterson, a farmer living 17 miles from here, during last week's storm, it was learned today.

The nurse, Miss Mildred Specker, had been called on the case to assist Dr. C. M. Parkinson of Highmore. When the storm prevented the doctor from reaching the Paterson home last Thursday, Fayette Weber, a farmer delivered the necessary instructions, via foot, through 3½ miles of deep snow. The unexpected arrival of a second daughter necessitated another round trip for Weber.

When Dr. Parkinson was able to reach the Paterson home Saturday afternoon he found the mother and 5½ and 6½ pound girls in good health.

A recent government survey showed the Texas birth rate declined from 1934 to 1935 while the death rate increased.

COMMENDS AID TO SCHOOLS IN HARRISON BILL

Oglesby Representative Announces His Support

Washington, April 1—(AP)—Representative N. M. Mason of Oglesby, Ill., estimates the school districts of his state would receive from $6 a pupil the first year to $18 the fifth year in federal aid or education if the Harrison-Black-Fletcher bill becomes law.

Mason is a former school superintendent and a member of the House education committee which is conducting hearings on the measure.

Announcing his support for the bill, he said many Illinois communities, including industrial centers, were in need of federal aid to carry on their educational systems.

"Even Chicago itself needs aid," he said, "as do Rockford, Joliet, Peoria and other communities."

The bill calls for an initial appropriation of $100,000,000, and $50,000,000 additional each year until the amount reached a permanent annual maximum of $300,000,000. The money would be apportioned to the states on the basis of the number of persons between the ages of 5 and 20 in each state. Control of the school systems would remain with the states.

To "Prime" Member:

Mason prepared a brief on federal aid for schools, based in part on his own experience and discussions at gatherings of the National Education association, in an effort to "prime" committee members for the hearings on the bill.

He argued there was an interdependence of states and that "because of this unity, if one state breeds ignorance every other state is affected thereby, and so education has become a national responsibility."

He contended also that at present there is "no equality among the states in their ability to finance a proper educational program," and that the federal government therefore must become "the equalizing agent and provide the necessary money."

He said also he believed the federal government was justified in acting as "a tax collecting agency for the support of education in the states."

"Our federal government during the present emergency has found it necessary to come to the aid of agriculture, industry, labor, finance," he added. "In view of this should not the federal government extend financial aid to the schools of the nation?"

CHILDREN'S TEETH SUFFER
Los Angeles—(AP)—Malnutrition in the depression years has affected the teeth of children, says Dr. Spencer M. Crump, who gives his time to a free clinic here. He estimates 100,000 are so badly affected they may be toothless at 35.

General Advice

PLANTING that makes a house a more desirable home for a family, is also increased in value many times the actual cost of the improvement.

DO NOT BE too formal in your planting arrangement. A carefully worked out informality is often the most attractive because it more closely approaches the natural.

ROCK GARDENS are desirable but keep in mind that much of the charm depends upon its naturalness and it takes genius to create a natural looking artificial rock garden.

IT IS NOT generally known that Holland's renown for bulbs started when Dutch adventurers brought the first bulbs from the East Indies three centuries ago.

IF YOU ARE bothered by cats and dogs in your garden, spray with nicotine solution as the odor is distasteful to them. Use 1½ teaspoons of 40% nicotine sulphate in a gallon of water.

JOIN A Garden club. The interchange of ideas is of value, and people who have a common hobby are always agreeable companions.

WHERE one has been exposed to Poison Ivy, thorough and repeated washings of exposed parts with a strong alkaline kitchen or laundry soap is often effective.

IF YOU WORK in a garden without gloves, rub a little soap under the nails to keep them from staining.

IN SETTING out bedding plants, be sure and put them lower in the ground than originally. This is a good general rule for all transplanting.

FEVER AID TO SPEED CURE OF DREAD SYPHILIS

New York, April 1—(AP)—A short-cut to ridding the country of syphilis with the aid of artificial fever treatments was visioned at the closing sessions of the first International Conference on Fever Therapy.

The fever, it was declared, speeds the cure by drugs where drugs can be used. It has proved itself as the only known cure in some of the after-effects which destroy the brain. It is not ready to be used immediately on the millions of victims.

The future picture was drawn by Dr. Walter M. Simpson of Dayton, who with his fellow-townsmen, Dr. Charles P. Kettering, was given membership in the French Legion of Honor last night for discoveries in artificial fever.

In the "first stage" of syphilis, which has taken about two years to cure, Dr. Simpson said "there is every evidence that the time required for adequate treatment of most cases can be greatly reduced" by artificial fever.

Other physicians at the conference said the fever cuts the time to about six months.

"There no longer exists," Dr. Simpson said, "any valid reason to doubt the efficacy of artificial fever therapy in the treatment of neurosyphilis."

Shamford, Conn., April 1.—James J. Braddock knocked out Joe Louis last night in a savage bout fought "secretly" in an old barn near here.

A small select gathering of 500 millionaire sportsmen witnessed the affair, paying $1,000 apiece for the privilege. The battle was fought on a winner-take-all basis and so Braddock received the entire purse.

The blue-blooded spectators were sworn to secrecy, but the excitement of it all was too much for eager tongues and word of the sensational bout quickly spread.

The knockout, according to observers, came in the 13th round of the scheduled 15-rounder. It was the third time that Louis had hit the floor. Straight right-hand punches to the head had dropped him for a seven-count in the eighth and again for a nine-count in the eleventh.

Braddock staged a spectacular rally to win. Four times in the first five rounds he was smashed to the canvas by Louis' lightning left hooks, but four times the gallant battler wiped the blood out of his eyes, pulled himself to his rubbery legs and marched back into the face of Louis' withering fire.

Time Turned in Eighth
No one will ever know just how he was able to weather the storm of those first five fierce rounds. He had no defense but his blood-spattered courage against Louis' feint, left jab, feint, left hook, right-hand smash routine.

But weather it he did and when the seventh round came up Louis seemed to tire, or lose heart. Suddenly, he became an easy prey for Braddock's left jab, and Jimmy pumped it into the Brown Bomber's startled face often enough to gain an even break.

Braddock's seconds—busy, excited, little Joe Gould; cool, efficient Billy McCarney—seemed to breathe new life into him. He stalked out at the bell, sturdy, strong, with fight in his eyes, and waited for Louis in the center of the ring. Joe shuffled out like a cotton-picker coming home at dusk after a sweltering day in the fields. He was tired. Discouraged.

Braddock felt him out—jab, jab, jab. And then flung his right hand over Louis' outstretched left. It exploded high on Joe's cheek. Louis toppled to the floor.

He rose at seven and back-pedaled away, dazed, fright showing on his face. Braddock took after him, but the fury of those first few rounds had taken too much from his legs and he couldn't catch Joe.

Runs for Two Rounds
Through the ninth and 10th rounds, Louis fled before him. But Jim was not to be denied. He hung his overhand right on Joe's jaw late in the 11th and dropped him again. Joe was up at nine, weak and sick, and Braddock tore in for the finish. But the bell sounded.

The champion changed his tactics in the 11th. Instead of firing at Louis' head he dropped his attack to the body and pummeled Joe punishingly in the stomach. This maneuver was easily understood when the 13th opened. Louis came out with his guard low, trying to protect his pained mid-section.

Braddock carried on the downstairs campaign for a minute or two and then suddenly shifted his attack to the head again. Once, twice, three times his right hand crashed against Louis' jaw and down the Detroit Dynamiter went, flat on his back.

He never heard the count of 10. He was out for . . .

But it's time we were warning you not to kick any hats lying on

LOUIS BEING KAYOED BY BRADDOCK

Jimmy Braddock is still the world heavyweight champion after knocking out Joe Louis in the 13th round of their scheduled winner-take-all 15-round bout staged "secretly" last night before a select gathering of 500 wealthy sportsmen in a barn near Stamford, Conn. Louis is shown here hitting the deck for the third and last time. Braddock, towering over him, was floored four times during the early part of the bout, but took command after the eighth. Each of the millionaire spectators paid $1,000 to see the battle, which was savagely fought throughout.

U. S. DAVIS CUP CHANCES BEST IN TEN YEARS

Perry Rates U. S. As Tops Over Germany And Australia

New York, April 1.—The United States has the best chance of winning the Davis Cup this summer that it has enjoyed since it lost the trophy to France ten years ago, according to an analysis of the situation by Fred J. Perry, holder of both British and American championships until he turned professional last winter.

The great Perry, whose retirement from amateur ranks puts a definite crimp in the Davis Cup hopes of his native England for 1937, nevertheless thinks that the British team also has a chance, especially as it enjoys the position of cup defender and will be playing on home grounds.

Writing in Collier's, Perry analyzes the current possibilities carefully, as far as they can be judged before the final naming of all teams.

"According to all seasoned opinion," he says, "there are just three countries that are in the running for the cup this year—the United States, Australia and Germany. To these three, I make bold to add Great Britain, and I do so not merely out of loyalty to the country that did so much for me and gave me the chance to gain honors and a bank balance.

Defender Has Advantage
"First of all, there can be no questioning that the holding nation has the advantage. Aside from being saved the hardships of much travel and a long campaign, the holding nation does not have to select its team until two months after the twenty or more challenging countries have swung into action. It has more time to choose the strongest combination possible.

"It so happens that with an important replacement to be made in 1937 and the Number 2 singles berth wide open, England's privilege of delaying her nominations as the champion nation is a comfort to her. It is quite possible that by July the rivalry for the vacant berth will have come to an end, with one man standing forth as the unchallenged candidate for the job. America hasn't heard much about the ranking players of England, save Bunny Austin, but there are others who have a lot of good tennis in them.

"Of the four countries in the running for the championship this year, only Australia and Germany have a fixed team. The United States, like Great Britain, faces a problem in the choice of its Number 2 man. Australia and Germany know who their Number 2 is going to be and in that respect they have an advantage. Australia has even three good singles players. And Australia and Germany both have good doubles teams.

Rates Budge Winner
"We now come to the United States. In Donald Budge, America has a great player with a splendid armory of strokes and an excellent temperament for the game. In Budge and Gene Mako she has a doubles team who are capable, at their best, of beating any team. I do not hesitate to say that Budge has it in him to win both his singles matches against any team. I would rate Budge and Mako as fully an even proposition against any team.

"So I can see where the United States has the best chance of winning back the cup since it was lost to France in 1927, even if it is Number 2 singles man makes no contribution.

Speculating on this position, Perry picks either Bobby Riggs or Joe Hunt, passing over Bitsy Grant because of his lack of variation, and Parker because of his stroke limitation. And then he issues a general warning to the American team.

"Much depends," Perry writes, "upon Budge's preparation for the international tests. I think that the biggest mistake Americans make is in playing too much seriously in playing too much seriously, with the result that they fail to make the most of their game when the really important matches are at hand."

Perry didn't rank the countries according to his opinion of their chances.

BRADDOCK TO FULFILL DATE WITH CHICAGO

No April Fool Says Promoter Foley Too Skeptical

Chicago, April 1.—(AP)—No fooling!

At long last heavyweight champion James J. Braddock and his manager are going to keep their date to talk with Promoter Joe Foley for the titleholder's proposed 15-round battle with Joe Louis at Comiskey park June 22.

At least, Foley didn't think there was any fooling going on this time. Manager Joe Gould announced last night in New York that he and Braddock would leave for Chicago today to "see what the situation is."

Foley was prepared to inform Gould that Chicago wants the fight, a point the champion's pilot was reluctant to go for last week. The Illinois House of Representatives smothered the "10 top" bill, removing Gould's biggest objection to Chicago, and Mayor Edward J. Kelly has stated, formally that he and his charter centennial jubilee are eager to have Braddock and Louis slug each other here.

Further indication something tangible was brewing was provided by the arrival last night of Julian Black, one of the Brown Bomber's co-managers. Black detached himself from Louis' barnstorming party to look over training sites, five of which have been suggested. Louis is expected to stop off briefly in Chicago next week before going to northern Minnesota or Wisconsin for a conditioning stage.

Foley said he did not plan to let enthusiasm get the better of him pending action in Madison Square Garden's campaign to force Braddock to fulfill his contract to fight Max Schmeling in New York June 3.

GOLFER SPLITS ILLINI CAMPUS

Miss Livengood Is Seeking Fairway Recognition

Champaign, Ill., April 1.—(AP)—The University of Illinois campus was split into opposing camps today by a woman golfer who wants to compete for the university and by an athletic director who said "no."

Hilda Mae Livengood of Danville, Ill., a nationally-ranking links star, and twice state champion, is the aspiring feminine candidate for collegiate fairway honors and Wendell (Weenie) Wilson is the sports chief who denied her permission to go after a berth on the freshman team this spring and ultimately try for the varsity.

Miss Livengood was invited to tryout for the freshman team by Coach John Utley, who said she had scored an 80 in one of her few rounds on the Urbana Country club course, which is used by university teams.

Wilson, advised of the invitation, countermanded it and cited the precedent of Jane Faunt, Olympic diver, who was refused permission to compete for Illinois. Miss Livengood's supporters, however, said "there is no comparison between the two sports."

Would Drop Matter
While Miss Livengood appeared satisfied to drop the matter, "rather than raise a fuss" about it, the Daily Illini, student newspaper, kept the dispute alive by interviewing prominent campus leaders.

Will Kokes, captain of the varsity team, said "I'm for her playing. She's an excellent golfer."

Jane Tharp, vice-president-elect of the women's league, said "I do not see any reason why there should be any distinction (against her) if she is good enough."

Opposed to her playing was Miss Carita Robertson, assistant professor of physical education for women. Said she: "When men and women engage in sports together, they should do so for social and recreational reasons, not for competition. We must recognize the different competitive abilities."

Lowell Spurgeon, captain-elect of the football team, said he "saw no reason for barring her" despite the fact that "allowing a woman to compete in university athletics would be against tradition and custom."

NEXT TIME YOU ENTER A CIGAR STORE

Next time — instead of buying your cigar from sheer force of HABIT—say to yourself: "I believe I'll try PHILLIES. Any cigar that is the biggest seller in America must have something that smokers want, and don't find in other cigars."

As you smoke PHILLIES — compare it with your regular brand. Note the absence of bitter, bitey, raspy taste—even at the very end. Then ask yourself if it isn't milder — smoother — more enjoyable — than any cigar you've ever smoked.

All PHILLIES asks is a trial. Don't let HABIT keep you from getting the pleasure you should get — and can get — from a cigar.

ILLINOIS LAW MAKERS READY FOR CONTESTS

Insurance Code and Women's Labor Proposals Contested

Springfield, Ill., April 1.—(AP)—Battle lines on two major issues in the senate—the proposed new insurance code and a women's eight-hour law—were being drawn today for their first real tests next week.

With the measures on second reading, several amendments await consideration of the upper house when it convenes next Wednesday afternoon. Both houses moved up next week's session a day because of Tuesday's elections.

The main fight probably will be focused on sections of the insurance code regarding the operation in Illinois of Lloyd's of London, the attempt of reciprocal companies to be put in a class by themselves and the classification of burial companies.

Lloyd's representatives contend the London firm will be unable to operate in this state if the code as it now stands is enacted into law on the ground their financial set-up and methods of doing business prevent them from meeting the proposed financial requirements.

May Quit State
Reliable sources which declined to be quoted said officials of London Lloyd's had notified their Illinois representative the company would not renew its license in this state if the code becomes a law.

Amendments pending on the women's eight-hour bill sponsored by Francis J. Loughran, Chicago Democrat, for the Illinois Federation of Labor, would make exemptions for telephone companies, concessions for canning factories during the peak season and allowances for rush periods of mercantile businesses.

Major changes in a similar measure sponsored by James O. Monroe, Collinsville Democrat, were also in the hands of the printer. The amendments would remove exemptions for hotels, restaurants and mercantile establishments, provide time and a half for overtime and prohibit women working more than 90 days overtime in any year. Senators declined to comment on the outlook for passage of the measures as Lieut. Gov. John Steller announced that only they would be permitted to speak on them.

Two years ago, similar bills were passed by the house but killed in the senate, the insurance code needing four votes and the women's eight-hour bill one vote to be sent to the governor.

Meanwhile, the Loughran chain store tax bill was sent to the senate floor with a recommendation for passage by the revenue committee, with hearings planned when the measure reaches second reading.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MESSAGES FROM GENESIS

Text: Genesis 1:1-5, 26-31
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.,
Editor of Advance

From lessons in the New Testament, we turn in the second quarter of the year back to the Book of Genesis, with its story of beginnings.

Has Genesis something to teach us in this modern world, where science has discovered a great deal concerning the process of creation that ancient writers never knew?

We cannot hope that Genesis will offer us a textbook of science, but it may be that it will have a great deal to teach us concerning the spiritual nature of man and his world, the sanctity of life, the responsibility of brotherhood, the nature of sin and its wages, and the vision and need of mercy.

We shall discover in the course of these studies that Genesis is by no means a play-out book, but that it still has a great deal to teach the thoughtful reader.

If there were any question of this, we might cite one striking illustration. In the world of the 20th century, where modern so-called Christian nations are bristling with arms and armament, and we know not on what day the world may be plunged in war, is it not instructive to remember a man named Abraham? When his herdsmen fought with those of his nephew, Lot, over water for their cattle, Abraham took the amazing attitude of refusing to fight, and of saying that he was willing to sacrifice his own interests for the sake of peace.

Do we forget that he said to Lot, "You take the right hand, and I'll go to the left, or you take the left hand, and I'll go to the right, but let there be no strife."

CHURCHES

KING OF KINGS

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Emmanuel Lutheran church will present "The King of Kings," an elaborate, and it is unhesitatingly claimed, a reverent attempt to use the motion picture as a means of telling the greatest story in the world. The Bible has been very closely followed, and in the few instances where Mr. DeMille has added to the Gospel narrative, he has almost always had the authority of early Christian legend and tradition.

The film drama opens with the brilliant scene in the house of Mary of Magdala, and here the elaboration of an almost insensate luxury is used with something like dramatic genius to mark the contrast with the Magdalen's shame and repentance when she finds herself face to face with Christ. She has gone to Him to win back her lover, Judas the betrayer. She remains to become the most faithful and devoted of His followers.

The character of Judas is developed with subtlety and skill. He sees in the Man of Nazareth a national leader who may drive out the Romans and restore a free Judea to a place among the nations. He is impatient of the all embracing pity and the care for the poor. He gradually realizes the disappointment of his hopes and that his Master dreams of a Kingdom of which he has no conception, and it is in a fury of resentment that he plays the traitor's part in the Garden of Gethsemane, as it is in a fury of remorse that he throws down the thirty pieces of silver before the High Priest and goes out and hangs himself.

The miracles, the gentle care for children and for the lowly are shown in picture after picture. There is dramatic force in the driving of the money changers from the Temple where our Lord appears, not as a gentle rather feminine creation of the Renaissance painters, but as a strong man filled with righteous resentment.

That episode, in the book of Genesis, with its implication of teaching and vision, seems still to offer an ideal for modern men and nations. May we not find that this is so with a great deal in the book?

Let us turn to this lesson, with its story of creation. The story of creation is one of bringing order out of chaos, of bringing light out of darkness, of bringing man, greater than his universe and greater than the animals, into being, made the image and likeness of that Being whose Word brought order out of chaos, light out of darkness, and life into the world.

Nothing in modern science has gone beyond this or has set it aside. We may have discovered something more about the process, and we know now that creation has been a matter of millions of years and not of a few days; but we know, nevertheless, that life is the supreme reality in the universe.

We are conscious today of living in a world of great mystery. We feel its complexity, as the ancients could not have felt it. But the crude materialism of the science of yesterday has passed under the influence of scientific investigation itself and has lifted us into the newer and loftier realm of great energies and forces that contradict the idea of what we once called dead, or lifeless, matter.

The teaching of science today would seem to be rather that matter itself is a form of motion. We are in a living universe. Perhaps the mystery of life in the world seems more impenetrable than ever before, yet the simple verities of creation's story that emphasize order and light and life are the factors to which men come in faith and vision.

And so the drama reaches its climax in Gethsemane, in the meeting place of the Sanhedrin, in the hall of Pilate's palace and finally on Mount Calvary.

Immense pains have been taken to make each character vivid and individual. Thus Peter, destined to be the leader of his brothers after his Master's death, is shown as a gigantic, impulsive fisherman, tender of heart and infirm of purpose until the bitter trial of the night when he betrayed his Master thrice. The boy Mark is eager, inquisitive, tremendously interested. Matthew is the man of affairs, who, even when called to higher things, does not quite lose a certain shrewdness. And the Virgin Mary is a figure of infinite dignity and love, and in the end, of awful sorrow.

It is, of course, with our Lord Himself that the producer has had to face and overcome the greatest difficulties. No artist can hope quite to represent the greatest of all figures be he painter, poet, or actor. But this may at least be said that in the "King of Kings" there is not unworthy suggestion of the qualities of the Saviour of the world.

A silver offering will be received.

REVIVAL

The revival now being conducted in Bethel church by Evangelist John Wesley Lee, is growing in interest and attendance. Last night a fine spirit prevailed throughout the entire service. The evangelist brought a very splendid message from the subjection, "Where Are the Dead?" He used many scriptures in his fine argument, and concluded his message from the account of the rich man and Lazarus in the 16th chapter of the Gospel of Luke.

Tonight, he has promised to give proof of the fact that we will know one another in heaven. Service begins at 7:30 and all are welcome to hear this man of God.

Championship Turnover Good For Box Office

New York, April 1.—(AP)—The wholesale turnover in champions in the world pocket billiard tournament may not add to the prestige of the betting favorites, but it's good box office.

In the first three days of the tourney, Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland, Ralph Greenleaf of Chicago and Andrew Ponzi of New York, former champions, and Jimmy Cara of Wilmington, Del., defending titleholder, have been dropped to the middle section of the standings with a victory and a loss each. All but Ponzi, who downed Charles Seaback of Boston, 125-100, were victims of surprises yesterday.

Cara was handed a somewhat one-sided beating by a 125-88 margin by Marcel Camp of Detroit. Rudolph dropped a 125-82 decision to Fay Gainer of Vineyard, N. J. Greenleaf fell hard, losing 125-76 to Onofrio Lauri of Brooklyn in 19 innings.

As a result, two lesser lights, Irving Crane, Rochester, N. Y., youngster, and Joseph Diehl of Rockford, Ill., have taken over first place, each with a victory in his only start.

DIXON LIBRARIAN ON THE PROGRAM REGIONAL MEET

Mrs. Margaret Scriven Is Among Many Attending Conference

Mrs. Margaret Scriven, librarian; Emily Cartwright of Oregon; Edith McCoy, Ruth Spax builder has scaled his measure and Mabelle Scholl of Polo; and Mrs. D. E. Thompson and Edith Haustrine of Mt. Morris, were among over sixty interested people who attended a sectional meeting of the Illinois Library Assn. at Sterling, Wednesday, at which extension of the library relief fund as a permanent institution and certification of librarians were subjects discussed.

Miss Hallie Warner, acting superintendent of the library extension division of the Illinois Library association, presided at both sessions and was in charge of the discussion on certification of the librarians of the state.

Bill Is Now Pending
The Illinois Library association is now sponsoring a bill before the Illinois general assembly requiring librarians appointed to positions in tax-supported libraries after January 1, 1938, to meet certain educational and professional standards according to the position to be filled.

Most state, including Illinois, Miss Warner told the assembled librarians, required doctors, lawyers, teachers, nurses and other professional people to have a certain background of education and experience before they are permitted to practice their professions. But there is no law in Illinois to prevent a person 15 or 20 years of age with even an elementary education being appointed a librarian.

Books, she said, do not alone make a library. Nor can the best of books in an ornate building make such an institution. Librarians and library service are important factors in the value of any library if it is to fill its place as one of the educational institutions of a community.

The proposed law would give certification to those already in the library service. It provides for the recognition and appreciation of the service rendered by librarians of experience and demonstrated ability. But it would require of the future librarian a minimum general and professional education. It would insure good library service for the community of unqualified persons.

In Other States
Nine states already have compulsory certification of librarians. Among them are Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Tennessee and Minnesota. They have already prepared certification bills for passage during the present legislative session. Illinois, always foremost in educational work, should not lag behind her sister states in this great work.

Miss Warner was followed by Mrs. Scriven who gave an able talk on certification, bringing up all of the arguments that will be brought against such a bill and showing what the answers should be. She, as well as Miss Warner, urged all present to see their legislators with regard to the bill as soon as it is presented.

Miss Rogers Talks
Miss Helen Rogers, executive secretary of the advisory committee of the Illinois library relief fund, spoke on the pending bill to make permanent library relief.

In Illinois, she said, the public library income has been greatly reduced because of decreased valuation of real estate for assessment purposes, the shift from a tax on real estate to other forms of taxation in which the library has no share and the drop in tax collections. A library means books. But adequate provision for books is no longer possible under existing conditions.

This problem can be partly solved by renewing the act passed two years ago establishing the library relief fund. This act expires June 30 of this year and libraries throughout the state recommend that it be renewed for at least another biennium.

To Replenish Shelves
The library relief fund enables libraries to replenish their shelves depleted after at least five years of practically no book purchases. It was the means of bringing back to the library many persons who had become discouraged because of the lack of new books as well as the lack of older standard titles which had worn out and which the libraries had no means to replace. It was the means of introducing the public library to many new readers.

But the work of replenishment is only begun. Books are being worn out faster than they can be replaced. The library cannot continue to hold the interest of its readers; it cannot continue to supply their wants unless the state comes to its aid.

In Illinois there are over a million urban and another million rural people without library service of any kind. The educational system of the state is incomplete until its libraries reach everyone. The library wherever it exists carries on and gives permanent value to the work of the schools. It serves people in all walks of life and of all ages. It is the gate-

MINIATURE

Nelson Man Builds
Replica of Big Locomotive

Harold A. Eastbrook of Nelson has devoted his spare time during the winter months in the construction of a miniature of the 3000 type of locomotives used on the North Western railroad which is now on display at the Miller Stutzel general store in the village. The builder has scaled his measurements down to one-quarter inch to the foot and the locomotive which he has completed weighs about seven pounds, is 21 inches long and four inches high at the stack.

Working at intervals since Dec. 20 on the small model, Eastbrook, completed the painting and lettering March 18. While centering his attention on the model locomotive, he also started work on the building of a caboose and has plans for the building of a miniature switch engine and 50 feet of steel track.

The small drive wheels are of cast iron, turned down to scale, the frame of steel and brass, the cab, fire box and tender of sheet brass tubing.

Mr. Eastbrook has built a section of track, with small wooden ties and steel rails to complete about 50 feet of this track, which he plans to place in his yard at Nelson this summer. The track is equipped with a third rail system, which operates the locomotive by the use of small storage batteries. The engine is electric lighted and while it is Mr. Eastbrook's first attempt at this kind of construction, he has been very successful and all who have inspected the small locomotive, even to the most skeptical of railroad employees at Nelson, have pronounced it a perfect replica of the latest type of engines on the North Western.

way of opportunity to the thousands who have been deprived of early advantages.

Under the bill now drafted not only will the city population be helped, but the sum of $200,000 is appropriated from the sales tax for the purpose of extending library service into the country districts. If passed, rural residents may be able to make arrangements to use the library facilities of the cities without the cost to the individual, yet the library will be reimbursed.

Like Miss Warner, Miss Rogers urged all present to work with the members of the legislature in an effort to secure the passage of these bills.

A number of employees attended the movies in Dixon last evening. It is said one of them lost an upper plate of false teeth and that someone else found them. We will gladly reveal the name of the finder to anyone interested that will get in touch with us.

John Reuter has returned to duty at Farm 1. John tells us of a heavy snowstorm that blanketed Lake county while he was at home. We understand that the championship of Farm 3 is now to be settled.

The regular weekly movie show sponsored by the recreation department was held at the amusement hall last evening. A variety program of movie shorts featuring the amateurs of one Major Bowes was greatly enjoyed by the patients for whom the show was given.

Lawrence "Jerry" Gorman reports the logging of a station located in a town in Baluchistan. This is a most remarkable achievement and one of which Jerry may well be proud.

Joseph and Mrs. Vassau have returned from their recent visit to their home in Gray's Lake.

Pending the selection of a successor to the late Edward Dawson, former chief clerk, the duties of his office are being performed by Mr. Meyers from the general office of the department of public welfare at Springfield.

The latest word that we have had as to the condition of Patrick Hennessey, head detail boss, who is ill at his home in Dixon, is that his condition is critical.

Buell Steelman has returned from his vacation.

A list containing the names of a number of employees whose vacationations are overdue was posted yesterday by the chief nurse's office and the employees named were instructed to arrange to take them at once.

J. Henry Wilson is planning to entertain a party of friends in Peoria over the week end.

Because of the unavoidable absence of President Frank Pikel and Vice-President Howard Hahn, who were detained in Dixon the regular meeting of the Labrador Seals scheduled for last evening was postponed.

INTEREST GROWS IN HOMES SHOW HERE THIS WEEK

Attendance Increases
Daily; Exhibit to End
Saturday

The Better Homes Exposition at the Schuler building, was well attended Wednesday, the evening session bringing out many prospective buyers interested in bettering their homes. Each evening the exhibitors are issuing attendance awards. There are many of the exhibits which are out valuable samples. The L. C. Mercantile Co., wholesale grocers are serving hot coffee to all who want to sample their products. There are many unique and interesting displays.

The Frank Kreim Furniture store has a very novel mechanical display, illustrating floor coverings to its best advantage, a very interesting color-scheme from the floor to the ceiling including the draperies. These harmonizing colors were worked out by one of America's well known interior decorators. It solves the perplexing problem of room-color. There are thirty-three room designs in view.

The Conger Supply Co., Norge home appliances distributor, is showing a complete chassis of a Norge electric refrigerator. This mechanical device gathers the frost right out of the air, showing the working plan of the automatic refrigerator.

The Hunter Co., distributors of the Easy washer and Leonard electric refrigerator, are showing the new dual release super-safety washer wringer.

The Wilbur Lumber Co. exhibits a complete kitchen cabinet of veneered construction to harmonize with other equipment.

Scouts Have Exhibit
Boy Scout Troop 60, sponsored by the First Baptist church, will exhibit their art of plaster paris novelty designs in their booth during the balance of the show.

The twelve products manufactured by the Medusa Cement Co. clearly explain the importance of quality material. Three of these twelve important products are mined and manufactured here in Dixon, certain mineral requirements are found here that produce a very high quality material.

Chester Barriage distributor for the G. E. radio, Crosley refrigerator and the Nolco portable water softener, has a unique demonstration at his booth, showing the successful way to materially assist the housewife by actually softening Dixon water.

Other Exhibits
The congenial representative, L. M. Daily, of the H. V. Massey hardware company, is enthusiastic in his explanation of the new Perfection oil stove, demonstrating an innovation in new modern kerosene all porcelain cooking stoves.

W. H. Ware, distributor of the Kelvinator electric refrigerator, is showing a beautiful "Plus-Power" line of 1937 models equipped with the "Kelvinator Controls" an exclusive feature.

W. J. Cahill, distributor of the Frigidaire electric refrigerator, has a mechanical demonstration of an exclusive eliminating the "Cub-Struggle" which immediately and instantly releases frozen cubes from the ice tray.

There is much to be learned at this Better Homes show. The Dixon merchants participating have gone to considerable expense to present their merchandise for the public's inspection. The exposition will close Saturday evening at 11 o'clock.

FOWL EATING RECORD

Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—A husky little Rhode Island Red rooster belonging to Bill Eschbach recently set a mark for other roosters to strive for by eating 692 grains of corn to win a contest with four other fowl gourmets.

The rooster was still eating when the judges closed the contest because corn ran out for the second time. More corn was obtained and the rooster ran his number up to 751 before he was led away looking hungry.

Winter Haven, Fla.—The Phils tackle the fast stepping Washington Senators today, seeking a third consecutive triumph. Bucky Walters and Wayne Lamaster turned in their second shutout at the expense of the Brooklyn Dodgers as the Phils won, 1 to 0, yesterday.

Gulfport, Miss.—The New York Giants will start the season with substantially the same pitching staff that hurled the club to the National League pennant last year. Only Cliff Melton, secured from Baltimore, is new to the corps which Sarasota, Fla.—Bob (Lefty) Grove and Wes Ferrell, the Red Sox pitching aces, will oppose each other in today's six-inning practice game. The southpaw will hurl for the regulars and Ferrell for the scrubs.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Although he will be given a trial at third base eventually, Buck Jordan will start his long delayed spring training on first base for the Boston Bees' scrubs in today's intracub game.

Lakeland, Fla.—Paul (Dizzy) Trout, divested of his comic tendencies by the St. Louis Cards in one long, hard inning recently, got his chance for redemption today in the eyes of the Detroit Tigers. Trout, rookie righthander, was named to start against the Cincinnati Reds.

Ironically, Martin had mailed an Easter card bearing the scribbled news of his having found a job in Texas.

Kansas City—(AP)—Mrs. J. T. Wilcox, 50, wife of a Midland Life Insurance Company executive, died. She was a native of Fairbury, Ill.

Joliet—Joliet township high school's state championship basketball team and Catholic high's quintet, second place winner in the national Catholic tournament, were honored at a public reception. Among the speakers were Doug Mills, University of Illinois coach and former Joliet high mentor, and George Keegan, Notre Dame coach.

Air transportation in the United States during 1936 used more than 80,000,000 gallons of gasoline.

2,085,000 People in Illinois Given Social Benefits

Washington, April 1—(AP)—The social security board said today more than 2,085,000 persons in Illinois were benefitting directly under the social security act. The board said seven of the act's ten provisions were in operation in the state.

Illinois' old age assistance plan, called the major section of the social security act and in effect since last July, has received federal grants of $6,457,304, the board said, adding that approximately 130,000 persons were receiving regular cash allowances from the combined state-federal fund.

It was estimated that in March the state paid out $2,041,000 for old age assistance. The board explained that only one part of the act—the old age benefits program—could become effective without state action. Illinois has set up approved plans for six of the other nine services. They are:

Aid to the needy aged, maternal and child health services, services for crippled children, child welfare services, vocational rehabilitation and public health services.

The programs for which the state has not set up plans are unemployment compensation, aid to the needy blind and aid to dependent children in their own homes.

LANDIS HEARS COMPLAINT OF TOMMY HENRICH

Latter Claims He Was Sold To Braves In "Cover-Up" Deal

New Orleans, April 1—(AP)—Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner chose April 1 to learn whether there was any feeling when young Tommy Henrich, hard-hitting outfielder, was sold to Milwaukee by the New Orleans club of the Southern Association.

Henrich, who has expressed belief his sale to the Brewers with pitcher Ralph Winegarner for $7500 was a "cover up" deal engineered by the Cleveland Indians, want to be declared a free agent if his suspicions are substantiated.

From the Milwaukee club's training camp at Biloxi, Henrich aired his views just before leaving for the hearing behind closed doors today.

Not Ready Yet "I am not sure I am ready for the big league this year," Tommy said. "I would rather wait a year and not go until I knew I was ready. But right now I want to know who owns me and why, and if I am entitled to free agency."

"I just got tired of telling folks: 'Yes, Milwaukee bought me but I guess Cleveland still owns me because I see all the deals are being made with Cleveland.'"

It was not considered likely Landis would rule on the case during his stay here. Scheduled to appear before him are Henrich, officials of the Cleveland, Milwaukee and New Orleans clubs and Billy Evans, manager of the Boston Red Sox farm system and former general manager of the Cleveland Indians who is accused by Cleveland's president Alva Bradley of stirring up the whole business.

Washington, April 1—(AP)—Legislative leaders announced they expected President Roosevelt to send congress a flood control message within a few days, calling for a nationwide system of conservation agencies similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Roosevelt will propose establishment of at least eight huge watershed areas, they predicted, each supervised by a federal authority empowered to erect dams, reforest land, build levees, and check soil erosion.

Production of vast quantities of publicly-controlled electric power, they said, probably will be an incidental by-product of such a program.

Government experts were said to have been impressed by effectiveness of the TVA operations in preventing floods, while surrounding areas were covered in January by one of the worst inundations in history.

Congressional leaders described the president as convinced that floods can be prevented only by a comprehensive national program "to repair the damage from a century of reckless misuse of the land."

Proposals Dormant Recommendations of the national resources committee may be followed closely in outlining the eight or more flood-control regions, they suggested.

Senators Barkley (D-Ky) and Bulkley (D-Ohio) already have proposed somewhat similar legislation, but it has lain dormant in committee.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), author of the Tennessee Valley Act, said he had been studying a national flood control scheme placing heavy emphasis on power production.

Because of the huge cost of a flood control system, it would be developed gradually over a long period. The first steps, informed persons said, would be reforestation and control of small streams, rather than expensive reservoir and levee projects.

Since this work could be done largely by the Civilian Conservation Corps, the Resettlement Administration and other existing agencies, no great expansion of government payroll would be immediately necessary.

Activities of Students During Past Week Recorded for Readers

CALENDAR

Friday, April 2—Athletic benefit, 8 p. m., high school.
Saturday, April 3—Junior class party, 7:30.
Monday, April 5—Senior class meeting, auditorium, fourth period.
Wednesday, April 7—Sophomore Hi-Tri.
Thursday, April 8—Science club, Home Economics club.

Athletic Benefit

A new revelation! Come one! Come all! The second annual athletic benefit to be held Friday, April 2. The price is 10 cents to all. Think of it, only 10 cents for one of the biggest programs of the high school schedule. The biggest feature will be the faculty playing the All Stars. Great work is expected from Mr. Lowry and Mr. Werbelow. As yet the faculty is not organized, but it is understood that they are considering a decisive victory. The All Stars may have something to say about this. As a side feature an exhibition of Badminton will be given in the gym.

The auditorium program is going to be great, too. Come and see world and local characters impersonated by people you know. You will also see an excellent minstrel skill.

The entire student body is selling tickets, so get your ticket and be prepared to enjoy the evening of April 2. The time is 8 o'clock. Home rooms are struggling to secure the home room trophy by securing the greatest per cent of the assigned quota for the room. The program is as follows:

Address of welcome—A. S. Moser, director of athletics.

A minstrel skit—Jim Pitcher, Carrol Middleton, Eugene Simon, Dick Paschen, Gordon Berlin.

Reading—Marie Hansen.

Piano quartet—Dexter Nelson, Kenneth Nelson, Burton Nelson, George Vane.

Tableaux of world and local characters.

Basketball game—Faculty vs. All Stars.

Badminton demonstration.

Inside News

Now let's hound the very famous lad of our school, the human talking machine, the one and only Dexter Nelson. (In Latin his name is Dextra.) When we approach Dexter he is carrying a doll. My, my, what is he doing with a doll? Some bright person (Ida Jane) remarks that the resemblance between Dexter and the doll is very great. You know, a hollow head, etc. Well, let's begin. What is your favorite study?

Are you a Shirley Temple fan?

"Definitely not." Why not, Dexter?

Is there ever a time when you don't take a bow?

"Yes, when my pants are too tight." All right, well excuse you then.

Are you a Republican or a Democrat?

"Republican, the best party of the country."

If you had a chance would you trade your sousaphone for a piccolo?

"No, not unless I have to take it home!"

We sympathize with you, Dexter. And now let's leave Dexter with his doll.

G. A. A. Stunt Tests

Tuesday, March 18, after school about 16 girls took stunt tests. The points earned will count on G. A. A. records. There is going to be another meeting to finish the tests.

Junior Hi-Tri Tea

The junior group of Hi-Tri entertained their mothers and teachers at a tea Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the school cafeteria. Betty Unholz was in charge of the tea and she introduced the girls who gave the following program: Quartet—Eileen Rasmussen, Jeanne Kasbeer, Esther Poppens, Maxine Cowan.

Short talk about the meaning of Hi-Tri—Martha Lou Zearing.

Piano solo—Louise Buchaus.

Humorous reading—Eileen Rasmussen.

Flute solo—Esther Poppens.

After the program, tea was served and the mothers, girls, and teachers visited with each other.

National Honor Society

The new members to the National Honor society have been elected by the faculty and students of P. H. S.

In order to be eligible for membership one must be in the upper one-third of the junior or senior classes. He must be outstanding, as well in service, leadership, and loyalty.

The new members this year are: Seniors: Virginia Piper, Leland Putcamp, Alice Schulhof, Gladys Shultz, Albert Ehringer, Orville Quastrom, Joyce Nelson, James Nelson, Dorothy Snyder, and Cecil Loberg; the juniors: James Tedrow, Dallas Prather, Marjorie Thomas, Helen Noren, and Loretta Brown.

Those elected last year as juniors and who still retain membership this year are: Alice Bowman, Duncan Bryant, Edward Slutz, and Norma Klass.

Band Preview

Students of P. H. S. were given the opportunity of hearing the band contest held at LaSalle, March 19-20. This preview was presented on Thursday morning, March 18. The same selections, both the whole band and the solo pieces, were played; eight members being given before the students.

The soloists of the contest were Ruth Spate, Dexter Nelson, Ronald Hoover, and Louise Buchaus. A brass sextet also played a number.

Juvenalia

It's off the press and soon will be in your hands. The masterpiece of the creative writing class that you have been hearing so much about in the corridors is just about to make its debut.

The biggest 35 cents worth that you have ever received will be that Juvenalia! If you don't have your 35 cents now, be sure to get it right away and hold it until this fine bit of work is out.

Don't forget, Juvenalia's coming out!

G. A. A. Party

The Girls' Athletic association had their annual party at the home of Ida Jane Brooks, Thursday, March 18. After the large group of girls arrived, the entertainment committee consisting of Doris Batten, Helen Gibbs, and Lillian Thompson furnished some very peppy games. For the first game each person was given the name of a partner of some well known couple, as Gracie Allen and George Burns. The name was put on in such a way that the person wearing it didn't know whom she represented. By asking questions that could be answered "yes" or "no," each girl found out who she was. After finding out her identity, she had to find her partner.

The partners then wrote jingles, the first word of each beginning with the first letter of the words: Girls' Athletic association, Princeton township high school. Betty Unholz and Marjorie Snell won first prize, and Helen Sidle and Elizabeth Gramp took second for the best jingles.

Then came the main event of the evening which was a talk by Mrs. Reeder of Mendota. Mrs. Reeder was formerly Miss Evelyn Rasmussen who taught physical training in the Princeton schools. She chose as her subject "The Good Sportswomen." Mrs. Reeder brought out in her talk that sincerity was the most important factor in making a girl her best self. All the girls enjoyed Mrs. Reeder's splendid talk and were pleased to see her again.

The refreshment committee, Carolyn McManis, Phoebe Nichols, and Margaret Oberg, served good refreshments, and another annual G. A. A. party was over, each girl feeling it was one of the best parties ever held.

Band Honors

The Princeton high school feels justly proud of the recognition obtained for them by the band Friday evening, March 19. By rating first division in their class, "D," they will be ranked in Class "B" for next year's meet.

Selections played were: "First Parade," a warming up march; "Paradise Isle," the required number; and "Panora," the selected piece.

The band was considered very good in the sight-reading which the bands may or may not enter as they choose. This had no bearing on the decision of the judges concerning the rating. In sight-reading, the band leader was given two minutes to look at the music and the students one minute, in which time the instructor was allowed to call attention to signs, rests, etc. After this the pieces were played and were judged. A representative from the Chicago Music school gave helpful suggestions and pointers that were appreciated by the members of the band.

Saturday morning our soloists competed and rated very well. Ronald Hoover played a clarinet solo, "Miami Moon," and ranked first division. Ruth Spate placed first division with her baritone solo, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," sion with a sousaphone selection. Dexter Nelson placed second division.

and Louise Buchaus also rated second in the piano solo contest.

The brass sextet, consisting of Gordon Berlin, cornet; Bob Schoenberger, cornet; Helen Kuhn, French horn; Ruth Spate, baritone; Vera Charles, trombone, and Dexter Nelson, sousaphone, drew recognition of ranking in the second division.

Annual Pictures

On Friday, March 19, the last group of pictures for the 1937 Tiger were taken by Dave Hamm, local photographer. Those pictures taken were: Mixed chorus, new staff, Tiger staff, National Forensic, A club, A-B club, National Honor society, National Athletic scholarship society, boys' chorus, and G. A. A.

Now that this portion of the work is completed and has gone to the engravers, the students of P. H. S. are becoming more and more anxious for the finest "Tiger" yet published.

Colorado Ruins Told Of

Ancient ruins found in Colorado were the subject of an assembly program given before the students of P. H. S. on Tuesday morning, March 16, when Dr. Davies of Spring Valley gave an interesting lecture and showed diagrams and pictures of the remains of old buildings of an old Indian civilization.

These ruins are the tell-tale evidence of an Indian civilization which existed there many hundreds of years ago. Their dwellings were built on the sides of cliffs and under overhanging rocks and in crevices.

Dr. Davies lecture was illustrated by several drawings which were referred to in his description of the construction of the buildings and by many colored slides projected on the screen. These were actual photographs of the ruins.

FHA PREPARES TO CLOSE DOWN LOAN PROGRAM

Washington, April 1 — (AP) — Chairman Leo T. Crowley of the federal deposit insurance corporation has announced the government should step out of the money lending business as rapidly as commercial banks are prepared to enter it.

He made this comment as the federal housing administration arranged to close down tonight its half billion dollar business of insuring home modernization and repair loans.

Its bigger business of insuring new home construction, now in a boom phase, will continue.

Expiration of powers to insure loans for home repair will terminate the emergency portion of the housing program. The home owners loan corporation, set up in 1933 to save homes from foreclosure, stopped its loaning activities last year and is being liquidated.

Up to March 20, 1,399,804 home repair loans aggregating $533,727,492 had been insured by FHA. The other private financial institutions, loans were made by 6420 banks and

The insurance has cost the government so far an estimated $15,000,000 of which $4,769,930 was the net loss in paying claims on defaulted loans and the balance was cost of operation.
